

Bygone Theatre Presents TNTD Theatre's Inhuman Resources

World Premiere of Canadian Play by Ukrainian Artist, Anna-Maria Maleshev

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: TORONTO, ON (Tuesday October 14, 2025) Try Not To Drown Theatre's Inhuman Resources makes its debut at The Bridge as part of the Bygone Theatre Presents program. Made possible by financial support from the Shevchenko Foundation.

Office rivals Casey (Liam Armstrong), Nick (Andrew Easterling) and Tim (Michael Manning) find themselves trapped in their company break-room over a long weekend. Desperate to free themselves, the men quickly devolve into chaos, turning on each other and the boss' pet goldfish. An absurdist blend of corporate carnage and the grief of staying hopeful, Inhuman Resources examines how hopelessness affects choice.

ABOUT BYGONE THEATRE

Bygone Theatre's goal is to promote the growth and development of independent theatre in Toronto through production, education, and outreach. We revisit, renew and reimagine character-driven stories that are written or set in the early to mid-twentieth century in an attempt to connect audiences to parts of our past that remain relevant and intriguing today.

Bygone Theatre Presents is a new development program that forms a part of Bygone's educational programming. In-keeping with our mission to provide hands-on training to artists, we are guiding emerging artists and companies to produce original shows that; reflect on the past; are set in the early to mid-twentieth century, or have a classic cinematic aesthetic.

SHOW INFO:

VENUE The Bridge, 379 Adelaide St. W., 4th Floor, Toronto

SHOW DATES November 6-15 | Wed – Sat at 7:30 pm, Saturday matinees at 2:30 pm

PREVIEW Wednesday Nov. 5, 7:30pm | OPENING NIGHT Thursday Nov. 6, 7:30pm

TICKETS | www.bygonetheatre.com/tickets

RECOMMENDED FOR Ages 13+ | Mature themes, simulated violence

MEDIA CONTACT:

Emily Dix, Artistic Executive Director, emily@bygonetheatre.com

-30-